

Welcome to the Docker weekly newsletter, a quick look at the latest content published about Docker and the agenda for the upcoming weeks.

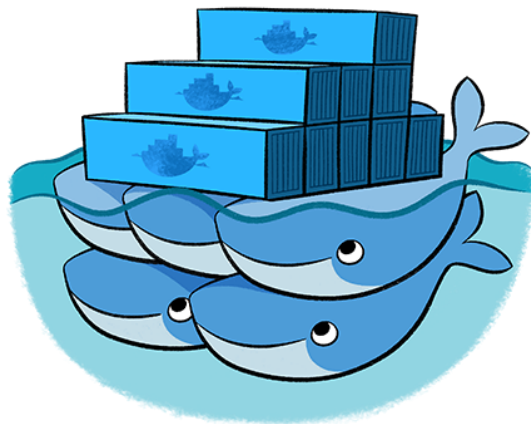

5 Reasons Why You Need to Attend DockerCon 2015

These are our top five reasons for attending DockerCon 2015 – what are yours? Tweet us \(@DockerCon\) with why you are attending.

Late last week, we announced another round of presentations including The Walt Disney Company's Brian Scott and Patrick O'Connor, General Electric's Brett Luckabaugh and Thomas Barber, and Lyft's Matthew Leventi. Click here to see the full list of confirmed speakers.

And in case you didn't hear about it yet, we're featuring a Street Fighter tournament at the upcoming DockerCon 2015 Hackathon! Get ready to battle other hackers to win a free pass to DockerCon and an Xbox 360.

Register now to join us at DockerCon 2015 on June 22-23 in San Francisco.

Online Meetup Recap: Docker Swarm 0.2.0

As you might already by now, we scheduled a series of Docker online meetups covering the updates included in the release of the latest versions of Docker Engine, Registry, Compose, Swarm, and Machine.

And last week, it was Alexandre Beslic's turn to demo the nuts and bolts of Docker Swarm 0.2.0: resource management, advanced scheduling with constraints and affinities, discovery backends, etc. Watch the recorded video from the online meetup on Docker Swarm 0.2.0 now.
